

UPS Industrial Services: An extraordinary contractor ... again

Universal Plant Services brings extensive industry experience to the table

Universal Plant Services (UPS) has re-formed UPS Industrial Services Division, offering a single, comprehensive source for all your facility's fixed and rotating equipment installation and repair needs. UPS Industrial Services' skilled craftsmen and supervision provide safe and high-quality turnaround and repair services to keep your facility maintenance cost low while keeping your facility up and running.

"For 27 years, UPS has been recognized as a leading rotating and reciprocating equipment service provider," said UPS COO

The UPS Industrial Services Division team offers a single, comprehensive source for all your facility's maintenance, repair and turnaround needs.

Reagan Busbee. "UPS is now a one-stop specialty service provider where the best teams in the fixed equipment industry and the best teams in the rotating equipment industry have come together."

UPS Industrial Services offers a full range of turnaround and maintenance services including piping and specialty welding, tower services, mechanical and heat exchangers, heavy lift and rigging, project management, project controls, field machining, technical bolting services, valve repair services, emergency and routine maintenance, and heater retube services as well as its long-standing expertise in rotating equipment.

With the company's added turnaround services, UPS recently brought on a group of more than 20 top managers and supervisors who have nearly 500 years of combined experience in the industrial market. UPS and its management team understand how to provide extraordinary services to customers, which is a main reason why they formed this team.
